50 AND 100 YARD RANGES

Under no circumstances will a loaded gun be brought to a line. Loaded carry guns will remain in the vehicle.

Before removing your unloaded gun from your vehicle find out if line is hot or cold.

You may bring your unloaded gun to the line, or remove your unloaded gun, only after the line has been called hot.

Unloaded cased guns may be brought forward and placed behind the red line. The case will remain closed until the line is called hot.

Shooting and handling of guns is allowed only under the hot condition.

No one is allowed beyond the yellow line painted on the concrete when the line is hot.

When shooting all barrels must extend beyond the yellow line.

To call the range cold all guns must be made safe by unloading them and placing them on the bench with actions open, magazines out and cylinders open. - When the line has been made safe, move behind the red line painted on the concrete

When all guns have been made safe and everyone is behind the red line, the line can then be called cold.

Shooters can then go down range to score and post targets. Anyone not going down range must stay behind the red line

There is absolutely no gun handling while the line is called cold.

50 yard-Shooting from the prone position is restricted targets posted at the 50 yard line.

Bullet impact-If you cannot determine your bullets are impacting center portion of target, stop shooting and resight at appropriate range

Shooting at targets closer than the official 25/50 and 100 yard positions is absolutely prohibited due to ricochet hazard.

SHOTGUN RANGES

5 stand and hunting clays are primarily used for matches and leagues, special rules apply.

Shooting at hand thrown clay birds is not allowed anywhere on LRPC property

Maximum shot size is 7-1/2

Shotguns using sabots or slugs may not be used nor may rifles or pistols.

Shotguns transported from your vehicle to the range must be unloaded

Place your unloaded gun in the gun rack provided until ready for use

When moving from station to station at various ranges, your gun will remain unloaded until ready to shoot.

Maximum number of two shooting guests per member, they must be under member's supervision

Shooters are responsible for cleaning up after themselves, this includes shotshell hulls.

There is a fee for each round of trap, skeet, etc to reimburse the club.

You may pay the club administrator, or deposit the fee in boxes located in the clubhouse and at ranges.
